There were 6 adoption petitions studied for the Circuit Court. These are children placed in homes independent of service through a licensed child placing agency, and the Welfare Board is responsible according to law to make these reports to the court.

In addition to Rev. Cassen Palm Beach County is also represented on the District Ten Welfare Board by J. F. Thomas, Jr., West Palm Beach, J. T. McMurrain, Delray Beach, Mrs. Wilda Turf, Lantana and Mrs. Marion Bleech, Pahokee.

FAU Enrollment Is Disappointing

People of Florida interested in the future of Florida Atlantic University at Boca Raton were keenly disappointed at the poor showing made at enrollment time with a total of only 784 students. Well wishers of the modern space age university were all of the opinion that at least 2,000 students would sign on the dotted line opening day.

When the books were closed at the end of the day on Monday afternoon of this week, long faces were to be seen everywhere on campus from the office of President Williams to the lowest salaried worker on the University payroll. All alike had hoped that the total would be nearly three times what the official record showed at the end of the day.

No reason has been forthcoming from officials of the University as to what happened to keep a record enrollment from signing up for the first year's instruction at the recently constructed school. Junior colleges in the state have taken their fair share of students and other Universities are bulging at the seams. Time will tell just what happened to bring about the keen disappointment felt by all who are wishing great things for the new school.

As Florida's senior senator, Holland has promoted this state as a Space Center, increased the agriculture wealth, won flood control projects and obtained aid for highways, bridges, harbors and waterways.

Boys Ranch Gets $90,000 Cafetorium

LIVE OAK — A $90,000 cafetorium will be dedicated at the Florida Sheriff's Boys Ranch, 11 miles north of here, September 27, in memory of Jim and Rena Swick, former owners of Copeland Sausage Co., who lost their lives in Jacksonville's Hotel Roosevelt fire.

Program Chairman A. D. Davis, president of Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc., said the dedication rites will feature an address by Jacksonville Mayor Haydon Burns, Democratic Nominee for Governor, and will be climaxed with a ribbon cutting ceremony by members of the Swick family.

Open to the public, the program will begin with a free barbecue provided by friends of the Ranch at 12:30 p. m. The dedication will follow at 2 p. m.

Davis said the Swicks were generous supporters of the Boys Ranch during their lifetime; and after the hotel fire on December 28, 1963, a large donation from their estate provided a major portion of the financing for the cafetorium.

The new dual-purpose building will serve as a central dining hall and auditorium. A cottage now used as a temporary dining hall will be converted into living quarters for 20 more boys and increase the Boys Ranch enrollment to 80.

Teenagers Like State's Orange Juice

LAKE LAND — Orange juice is bound to be one of the favorite drinks of all time among teenagers. After all, the Beatles drink orange juice regularly for breakfast.

The Florida Citrus Commission has reported that Clementine Paddelford, food editor of the New York Herald Tribune, has uncovered the Beatles' tastes in foods. Miss Paddelford, who is a former judge in the Florida Citrus Commission's Orange Dessert Contest, reports that the Beatles hardly ever vary from their breakfast of corn flakes, orange juice, eggs, water biscuits and tea.

The four singing stars, in fact, generally order four individual packages of corn flakes, two quarts of orange juice, one dozen three-minute eggs, biscuits, and pots and pots of tea.

The Beatles indulge in no wines or alcohol, and never eat sweets. So, that's it, kids! From now on it's Florida orange juice for everyone.

Mrs. Ollie Adams and Mrs. Georgia Blair left Saturday for a visit with relatives in Glennwood, Ga.

YOUR GOVERNMENT

... A WEEKLY REPORT BY

Farris Bryant
FARRIS BRYANT
Governor of Florida

As recently as 1947 many South Florida homeowners had the experience of rowing a boat across their front yard, and wading through their living room.

Twenty years ago seven of every 10 acres in South Florida were continually submerged, and 19 of every 20 acres flooded periodically. The Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District has made past history of this sort of thing in Florida.

The reason you can live in what nature intended as a swamp of a floodplain and still have a dry, comfortable home, a lush yard and plenty of fresh, clear water from the faucet—is conservation.

Conservation simply means "to save" and that is the job of the Florida Flood Control District—to save water, to save land, to save property, even to save lives.

Nature's own plan for conservation in South Florida—flood, long periods of standing water, then drought—did not include man.

Only a thin strip of coastal land, where the seas had created a long series of sand dunes we call the coastal ridge, was high and dry during most of the year.

The early settlers built homes along the coastal ridge and lived comfortably, but as Florida's climate drew more and more people the ridge became crowded and men began to move westward into the fringe of the Everglades.

Attempts to drain and irrigate small sections of the vast swamp seemed to work at first, but men soon found they were upsetting the balance of nature, making the floods and droughts more severe.

It was clear that man must develop a conservation plan—not just a drainage plan, for the entire region, and the Flood Control District was created in 1949 to put into action such a plan.

The purpose of the plan is simple: to remove water from the land rapidly during flood periods and store it for use during dry seasons. But putting the plan into action was not so simple. The normal method of storing water is to dam up a stream, allowing the water to collect in a watershed area behind the dam. However, in Florida, where the land is flat and natural streams few, dams are not practical. The Flood Control District had to create water storage areas. They started by using Lake Okechobee as a controlled-water storage area. Then, with earth dikes, they created three huge reservoirs south of it.

These conservation areas, covering more than the state of Rhode Island, gave the District some place to put the rainy season. And because the unwanted water has not been dumped out to sea—as would be done if the Project were concerned only with drainage—the water is available for use during the dry months of the year.

More than 650 miles of canals have been dug to carry the water to and from these conservation areas, and counties, cities and groups of landowners can now place their flood-prone land with small, secondary canals that empty into the larger primary canals.

The land is so flat in South Florida that the direction that water flows is often determined by the way the wind is blowing. So, the Flood Control District had to install huge pumps to force water through the canals.

Eight of these giant pumps are already in operation, with more on the way. If necessary, they can pump 10 million gallons of water each minute—enough to supply the daily water needs of Miami in just eight minutes.

The stored water is used directly by farmers for irrigation of their fields and for protection of growing crops against frost damage. City dwellers use it indirectly as it seeps back into the earth, refilling the underground water supplies that furnish them water for drinking, bathing, cooking, lawn watering and countless other uses. Industries can now move to Florida with the assurance of a stable water supply.

The conservation areas also create homes for all types of wild life and provide a million-acre fishing, hunting, and camping playground for Floridians and visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Cruthirds and sons, Johnny and Paul, recently moved to Alton, Ill.

Avon Park Man Is Farm Bureau Head

GAINESVILLE — James P. Turnbull, Avon Park citrus grower and cattleman, will join the Florida Farm Bureau Federation September 15 as organizational fieldman in South Florida.

Turnbull, who replaces Charlie Collins, also of Avon Park, will work with county Farm Bureaus on organizational activities of the 33,000-member farm group throughout a 14-county area from Indian River County South.

A former city clerk in Avon Park for two terms, Turnbull has been active in Junior Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, PTA, and Farm Bureau affairs in Highlands County.

Turnbull, 32, attended Sewanee Military Academy, Sewanee, Tennessee, and Florida State University. He is married to the former Margaret Ann Lawhon of Avon Park and the father of eight children.

Collins, who has held this position for the past seven years, will join Ward's Nursery as a field representative.

Chevrolet Brings Out 1965 Models

Chevrolet takes its longest stride into the fine car field with its 1965 passenger cars — plus offering the widest variety of luxury models and product features in its 54-year history.

On display in dealer showrooms on Thursday, Sept. 24th, will be 45 models in five distinctive lines of new Chevrolets. Of these, 20 will be "sport models" — convertibles and hardtops.

There are all-new cars in two lines:

—The regular Chevrolet, long-time industry sales leader, moves to a new prestige plateau with the greatest comfort and luxury ever offered.

—The Corvair makes a dramatic advance with its first major styling change in five years.

Customer approved design, with significant styling refinements, is continued for the Chevelle, Corvair II and Corvette lines. The Corvair also becomes the first American car to provide four-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment.

Among approximately 40 accessories and optional features available on 1965 Chevrolets is the first FM stereo system offered by an auto maker. Another is a telescoping steering column to give greater driving comfort for Corvairs and Corvettes.

With its new models, Chevrolet hopes this year to establish its third successive industry sales mark. S. E. Knudsen, general manager, declared.

"For 1965, Chevrolet is keeping pace with the public's growing preference for prestige transportation with the widest possible customer choice of options and features to fit individual needs," he said.

Following are highlights of the five members of Chevrolet's "family" for 1965:

Regular Chevrolet — The top selling line is an entirely new automobile for 1965. It is the most luxurious car ever offered by Chevrolet.

Fifteen models in four series stress a bigger car concept. The new Chevrolet is longer by more than three inches (to 213.1 inches), wider by 1½ inches (to 79.6 inches) and one inch lower (to a sport coupe height of 54.1 inches) than 1964 models.

Interiors offer greater roominess — three inches more shoulder room — plus increased leg room, both front and rear. Floor tunnels are substantially smaller. The luggage compartment has a flat floor for easier loading.

Half Million Are Placed In Jobs In State In Past Year

TALLAHASSEE—State Industrial Commission Chairman Worley Brown today reported close to half a million job placements by the Florida State Employment Service for the 12-month period ending June 30.

Brown said total job placements at 433,239 were up 49,460 over the previous twelve months.

"These figures indicate an increasing high level of economic activity in Florida and stepped up service to the employer and worker by the State Employment Service," Brown said.

Every category of Employment Service activity registered gains, Brown said.

Nonfarm placements at 258,410 were six thousand above the comparable 1962-63 period.

Farm placements at 174,829 showed a sharp jump of 43,359 over the 1962-63 period when farm employment was curtailed by a damaging freeze.

Job placements for young people under 22 years of age showed a ten thousand gain to 56,172. And workers over 45 held their own with a slight gain of 477 to 50,931.

Handicapped workers placed in jobs by the Employment Service topped 1962-63 by 491 for a total of 10,096.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer and children, Jane and Johnny, spent Sunday as the guest of their daughter, Miss Kathleen Spencer, at Miami Springs.

Child Labor Must Meet Regulations

ATLANTA—"Last year almost 7,000 minors under 16 years of age were found employed on farms during school hours in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act."

This fact was pointed out by Henry A. Huettner, Regional Director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, in issuing a reminder on the provisions of the law to farmers and contractors who expect to hire young workers in the fall harvest.

The Act sets a 16-year age minimum in agriculture during school hours and applies to children of migratory workers as well as to local children. The only exception is where a child is working exclusively for his parents or guardians on their farm.

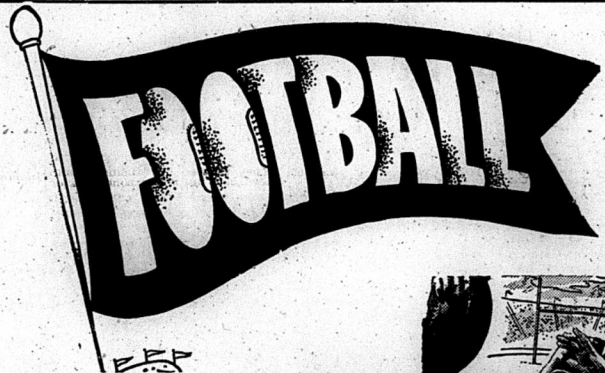

"The uneducated children of today are the unemployed workers of tomorrow," Huettner said, "and children who follow the crops are usually more educationally disadvantaged than boys and girls who do not work in the fields."

Each year the Divisions find some youngsters who are working in the fields and have never attended any school. Others may have gone to school but are usually in grades below normal for their ages.

Huettner said that children may legally work in agriculture outside of school hours or on weekends and holidays, but their place is in the classroom when school is in session.

"All states also have child-labor laws," he said, "and most have school attendance laws. If the standards differ from the federal law, the higher standards apply."

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Moon recently returned from Europe where they toured some of the towns and countries in which Mr. Moon was stationed during World War II. They were the guests of relatives and friends in England, Belgium and France where they visited the invasion beach heads and in Germany where they spent the day in East Berlin. They also visited Switzerland and ended their vacation at the Riviera at Nice, France.

Educational TV Receives Grants

ST PETERSBURG—The Florida Educational Television Commission has approved $173,000 in grants to ETV stations in Tampa. At the same time, the commission turned down a $75,000 request from WJCT, Jacksonville.

The Jacksonville station has not been able to work out a contract with the Duval County School System to supply programs this year, and the commission said the station did not qualify for funds.

The commission voted to provide up to $80,000 to the University of South Florida to permit USF to qualify for $270,000 in federal funds to get its Channel 16 station in operation.

A total of $93,000 was committed to WEDU, Tampa. The funds will be used for new equipment.

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new  $3\frac{3}{4}\%$  interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to  $2\frac{1}{4}\%$  for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed  $4\%$  each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra  $\frac{1}{2}\%$  from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic  $\frac{1}{2}\%$  increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installment are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and fortification. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

YOU SAVE MORE THAN MONEY WITH

In Florida... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.
